Entered at the Postoffice, Morrisville, Vt., as second-class matter

Don't forget, ladies and gents, that next Tuesday is the day for you to cast your primary vote for your favorite candidate. This does not settle the election, but simply prints the name of the candidate on the ballot to be voted on next November.

Travel over the Smugglers' Notch road is well established and thus is opened up one of the finest scenic drives over a splendid road through the Green Mountains. If you have driven to Mt. Mansfield and through the Notch you have gone over the finest scenery in Vermont.

Why is it that Vermont has to send outside of the state for an auditor to look over the accounts of the State Treasurer and State Auditor? Isn't there anybody within our borders sufficiently posted to examine these and other state accounts? It seems there might be a little money-saving in this direction.

The Hon. Frederick G. Fleetwood visited the Addison County Fair at Middlebury last Thursday and the 22,000 people there gave him a great ovation. Besides making a few pertinent remarks he shook hands with a large number, who expressed pleasure that he was to represent the first district. He sure did make a great impression upon Addison county folks. Look out for a big vote for Lamoille's favorite son down Addison way at the primary.

Governor Hartness ordered all games of chance closed at the Addison County Fair last Friday. True, it was after the wheels had been running for three days, but "better late than never." He says like orders will be given to all other fairs in the state from now on. Some county fairs got by before this edict went forth. The order is a good one and future Governors should follow it up. We have too much gambling, or games of chance, at our several fairs.

The Rutland Herald takes exceptions to our accusing it of using "Billingsgate" when it refers to Senator Vilas. Perhaps we did put it a little strong by using that word, but all the same a glance over the files of the Herald will show that on many occasions it has not spoken in very complimentary terms when it had Senator Vilas in mind. It accuses the Senator of "too much speaking." This may be true, but do not forget that when the Senator does speak he says "something," which is more than can be said of some who speak less.

A splendid fair was that which Addison county put up last week. There was a fine display of stock in all departments and the domestic display included a very fine exhibition of cooking, needle work, etc. It was a fair that showed hard and earnest work by the management and one in which it seemed that the entire county took a hand in bringing about the great success attained. In passing let us state that the grounds are right in the heart of the village and easy of access; thus doing away with what is common with many other fairs—a large number of taxies and other conveyances necessary to get to the grounds and which "soak" the public as to price.

WOMEN VOTERS, PLEASE NOTICE

(From the Vergennes Vermonter)
Miss Carrie W. Ormsbee of Brandon, president of the League of Women Voters of Vermont, has been scrutinizing the records of Candidates Foote and Proctor while in the Senate. Of course, she finds them both clean, but notes that "Senator Foote voted for, Senator Proctor against, a bill to give women the same right as men in voting for presidential electors and their votes were cast in the same way as to a bill extending the right of suffrage to women, providing for a referendum thereon." Summing up, President Ormsbee says:

"Whatever their estimate of the character and abilities of the two men may lead them to decide as to their vote at the primary election, Lieut.-Governor Foote deserves and, I am sure, has the gratitude of all those who believe in the immense possibilities for good inherent in the vote of women and in the primary, for he has on every possible occasion consistently advocated and supported participation of women in civic affairs and also the adoption and retention of the primary."
